5 Ways Project Management by Lexell Blue Keeps You on Track

JAMIE HILL
Principal PM Consultant

Project management helps teams work seamlessly by combining together various processes, systems, and methodologies to form a cohesive strategy. It's like a conductor who ensures everyone in the symphony plays together, and without it, you receive a horrible racket. As your Deltek Costpoint Project Manager, Jamie Hill will work with stakeholders to manage priorities and resources and organize tasks, so the performance is cohesive. Jamie has a proven record of communicating a winning strategy and will ensure the process is as seamless as possible while custom-tailoring your project plan that will take high-level goals and break them down into detailed activities and executable steps for the team to follow.

1 INDUSTRY EXPERIENCE

Over 10 years of experience in government contracting with an active CPA license. Jamie began her career in auditing and then in progressive roles at government contractors with experience including international accounting, financial reporting & consolidations, technical accounting, SOX & internal controls, and developing a shared service model for a Fortune 500 government contractor. She has also managed multiple Deltek Costpoint implementations, integrations, re-implementations, and carve-outs and was responsible for the TSA exit of a $5B merger & acquisition transaction including SAP to CP integration.

2 ABILITY TO RELATE

Jamie knows what it's like to balance the competing priority of day-to-day responsibilities while undertaking a large project such as a Costpoint implementation since she has previously worked with Lexell Blue on multiple engagements as a client and has a thorough understanding of the tried-and-true Lexell Blue process.

3 RESULTS DRIVEN LEADER

Jamie is diplomatic and tactful with a proven ability to communicate effectively across the organization's job levels and functional areas. She is also comfortable engaging with C-suite regarding integration-related strategies and operational decisions.

4 SCALABILITY

Program Management of Costpoint implementations & integrations ranging in company size from approximately $250M to over $1B. Previously responsible for accounting and reverse TSA exit of $175M divestiture from a Fortune 500 company. Currently responsible for both internal and external Program Management of Costpoint implementation and other Finance Systems for $250M spin-off.

5 CUSTOMIZED APPROACH

Combined with a little bit of southern sass (lived in Tennessee for 20+ years), Jamie tries to make every integration or implementation as painless and fun as possible. Sometimes referred to as a cruise director by some of her colleagues, she works hard to ensure everyone enjoys the experience while also ensuring everything stays on course. She looks forward to partnering with you on your next Costpoint project.
